

Peer reviewers 2014

Articles submitted to Healthcare Infection are subject to a blinded peer review. This process is an essential component in ensuring the publication of high-quality articles. As submissions to Healthcare Infection increase, so does the workload of peer reviewers and the quality of accepted articles. On behalf of the readers of Healthcare Infection, I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to those persons who have undertaken a peer review during 2014. I trust that you have found this experience rewarding and welcome your continued support. In late 2013, we instigated a form of feedback to reviewers. This feedback provides reviewers with the editorial decision made for the reviewed article and the comments of other reviewers. We hope that reviewers find this process useful.
