

Supplementary Material

Promoting effective interprofessional collaborative practice in the primary care setting:
recommendations from Queensland physiotherapy private practitioners

Jack Seaton^{A,B,}, Anne Jones^A, Catherine Johnston^C, and Karen Francis^D*

^ACollege of Healthcare Sciences, James Cook University, Townsville, Qld, Australia.

^BCollege of Public Health, Medical and Veterinary Sciences, James Cook University, Townsville, Qld, Australia.

^CSchool of Health Sciences, University of Newcastle, Callaghan, NSW, Australia.

^DSchool of Nursing, Paramedicine and Healthcare Sciences, Charles Sturt University, Wagga Wagga, NSW, Australia.

*Correspondence to: Jack Seaton College of Healthcare Sciences, James Cook University, Townsville, Qld, Australia Email: jack.seaton@my.jcu.edu.au

Appendix 1. Semi-structured interview guide

1. Thank you for agreeing to chat with me, could you introduce yourself and your position/role at this practice? (Follow-up: How would you describe your workplace?)
2. Can you tell me what you believe interprofessional collaborative practice involves? (Follow-up: How would you define interprofessional collaborative practice?)
3. Can you tell me what interprofessional collaborative practice looks like for a physiotherapist at [insert site name here] (Probe for: interactions with different professional groups; frequency of interactions; modes of communication; level of satisfaction; organisational culture/vision; perceived value of interprofessional collaborative practice)
4. What strategies or interventions do you think need to be undertaken to promote effective interprofessional collaborative practice for physiotherapists working in private practice? (Probe for: training innovations; funding mechanisms; policy initiatives; overcoming challenges to effective interprofessional collaborative practice; increasing the interest of health practitioners from different professions to work together)
5. How do you envision these strategies influencing patient outcomes and the overall health care system?
6. How do you think the unique features of the physiotherapy private practice setting should be considered when designing strategies to promote interprofessional collaborative practice? (Probe for: funding arrangements; organisational model; workforce composition)
7. What are your thoughts on professional development opportunities and training programs to support interprofessional collaborative practice within physiotherapy private practice? (Follow-up: Do you believe that specific educational opportunities and training programs can improve interprofessional collaborative practice skills among physiotherapy private practitioners? What content would these programs entail?)
8. Has participation in this research project changed your interest in interprofessional collaborative practice?
9. Is there anything else you would like to discuss regarding interprofessional collaborative practice in private practice that we have not covered in the interview?